

Nail Call

By now, you've likely cringed your way through the PedEgg commercial—the one with the woman sprinkling foot shavings into the garbage. Us too. So we put the tool and four others that intrigued us to the test. —CARL

WHAT WE SAY

PedEgg Professional The Ultimate Foot File, a callus grater that fits in your palm, $10.

"This is a great product that works extremely well," says manicurist Josephine Allen of the Samuel Shriqui Salon in New York City. "Just be careful not to press too hard—it is very sharp."

It quickly removed dead skin along sides of our feet smoothed every c

Sally Hansen Insta-Brite Nail Whitener, a liquid with pigments to brighten nails, plus a UV

"Nails appear brighter instantly because the polish is so shiny, but you'd have to use it for a long time before your nails would turn whiter," says Allen.

The dark polish been wearing left our nails a shade, but two this made them
